

that I had caught and game that I had killed and one or two little things like a visit to ascertain place I might put down; but there was no connected story in the diary and there were lots and lots of days when there was not a thing down of any account, because living down there as we do with very few trips away from the town, life is sort of humdrum; the same things go on every day and you really haven't anything to put down in a diary.

Q How long have you kept a diary?

A I have kept a diary ever since I started on the road and before that, I imagine for 30 years.

Q Same sort of diary?

A Same sort of one; when I was on the road I kept the diary simply on the route book.

Q Sort of entry of unusual things such as—

A Yes, and -- well, there are a great many things that might have been unusual that I didn't put down, but things just as I happened to remember them; that was all. Now, for instance, I think this— and I can correct it when we get the diary -- I think on that Tuesday I have down that I caught a fish -- I think it said "1 cooaker" something like that. Now, the next day I had something else about a couple of fish and I think I had "Art, 1 fish". Now, Art was this Arthur Applegate whom I used
